you are the dream that can stand up for justice and human rights and human dignity, here at home and around the world regulators started assessing damage and health risks at an abandoned nevada copper mine, the environmental protection agency is moving to designate the contaminated land a superfu...